

Abstract

A compiler device and a computer-readable recording medium recorded with a compiler program, adapted to generate a code for performing a procedure call in a program, making use of a dynamically and thread-piece-wise allocated interface area when a plurality of threads are processed in parallel.

000270" T6852950